On Memorial day while swimming at the Children's Pool beach in La Jolla, a woman with a name tag named Darota working for Seal Watch San Diego, a animal activist group was a tempting to keep people from using a public beach, she was using a megaphone and telling them to get off the beach that they were braking the law for being on the beach.

The same woman last week fallowed a scuba diver to his truck and video taped his license plate and him as he was changing out of his dive gear, she verbally assaulted him with vulgar language and accused me of hiring people to stalk her.
