I'm a La Jolla resident and have two small children who love this beach. Not only is it safe but its calm enough for them to play in the water and with lifeguards present makes me as a mother of two small children feel safe. The seals have an entire ocean to roam and can pick and choose where to rest. As my children do not have this option. A lot of beaches in La Jolla have a good break and I'm not comfortable allowing them near the water in case a wave takes them out. La Jolla Children's Pool was made for kids!! not seals!!. The seals do not draw that much attention for tourism, if they where gone people would still come here.. We are constantly harassed by the activists with false information and threats if we go near the beach, I'm so tired of this and my children have been scared off from a beach that was created for their enjoyment. Please restore the beach for children to use again and remove the activists from threatening us more...
