

What about stray seals in the people path to the shore?

A bit more Public Education needed- seals have right of way at all times. Give deference.

They will do as they please, protected from harm by Federal law which San Diego cannot enforce. If they don't care to share with people they will habitually choose the side of the beach they prefer.